2010 Campaigns of the Year

Small Business Campaign of the Year: Heritage Bank-Marshfield (8 - 25 employees)

Heritage Bank-Marshfield has won this award for the second year in the row. It has a strong workplace giving campaign with 100 percent participation and doubled its total campaign from 2009. Bank President Randy Malueg led the way by washing windshields in a new event that created enthusiasm and made windshields across the Marshfield area cleaner.

Medium Business Campaign of the Year: Marshfield Utilities (26 - 75 employees)

Marshfield Utilities increased its campaign by 35 percent. It also ran a very active campaign, with numerous special activities and incentives. It also holds a staff luncheon to show the United Way video and staff presentation.

Large Business Campaign of the Year: Opportunity Development Centers, Inc. (76+ employees)

Opportunity Development Centers, Inc. has a fun-filled campaign that offers different ways for all employees to get involved. They hold an annual chili luncheon on Halloween with costumes encouraged. Extra money is raised with clients voting for the top three staff members to submit to some embarrassing or uncomfortable task. Past "winners" have been duct taped to a wall, had a pie in the face or dressed in a silly costume.
